Test of Fire from A-Bomb Thrills 1,500 Troops

Scores of Trucks and Jeeps from Camp Desert Rock Roll Onto Yucca Flat for Show

Atom Bomb Site, Nev., April 22—(P)—One of the most spectacular atomic bombs ever detonated jolted observers 10 miles distant day and gave 1,500 troops an experience they will never forget. It probably was the largest bomb ever dropped on continental United States soil. The smoke blotted out the troops who were within miles on ground zero.

The bomb burst 42 seconds after release from an Air Force plane flying at 30,000 feet in a typical high level drop.

Despite brilliant sunshine, the flash was visible 75 miles away in Las Vegas. Seven minutes later, the southern Nevada gambling capitol rumbled with the concussion.

The shock twisted this observer's neck one minute after the flash. He fell back somewhere from four to 10 seconds.

The bomb formed a big mushroom before the concussion hit ground zero and raised the familiar dirty dust column.

The heat from the blast singed observers' faces at News Nob. Most of them were in foxholes like the troops.

The mushroom went through a series of colors, rust, yellow, violet, and then turned snow white. Finally, 35,000 feet above an ice cap rimmed and separated from the main ball-shaped cloud.

Scores of trucks and jeeps bearing the atomic GI's from Camp Desert Rock rolled onto Yucca Flat starting at 7 a. m., 2 1/2 hours before operation Big Shot was scheduled to get under way.

The weather was virtually cloudless, with only slight vagrant wisps. It appeared ideal maneuver weather, especially for the 120 paratroopers who were to make history's first jump behind a nuclear blast.

Yucca Dry Lake shimmered in the bright early sun as wire service reporters and photographers arrived at News Nob at 6:25 a. m. A small weather observation plane circled overhead.

BITTER WORDS EXCHANGED AT RUCE PARLEY

Munsan, Korea, April 22—(P)—In a sharp 16-minute truce session an Allied spokesman told communist negotiators today: "Our attitude clearly indicates we have not come to these conferences to negotiate an armistice."

Col. Don O. Darrow made the statement after North Korean Col. Chang Chum told him to "give us your illusions" about banning air strikes during reconstruction during Korean armistice.

Darrow said the Communists appeared more concerned with the U. S. command's attitude "than with living problems."

No problems were solved in the session dealing with means of surviving a truce.

The fate of armistice talks appeared to hang on another group of officers debating methods of exchanging prisoners of war. The officers met in executive session for an hour and 40 minutes. An Allied spokesman said they were "still exploring" possible solutions.

Both groups meet again at 11 a. m. Wednesday (9 p. m. EST, today.)

Warren Public Library To Be Host For Joint Meeting of Lake Erie Association

The April meeting of the Warren Library Association board of control was held last evening in the Pennsylvania Room of the public library, with President Wallace Cowden presiding. Routine reports were read and accepted.

It was announced that the Warren Public Library will be host for joint meeting of the Lake Erie Library Association and the members of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Library District of the Pennsylvania Library Association, to be held Friday, May 23rd. Plans are being made for a program which will be announced later. Melvin Voigt, president of the state association and librarian of the Carnegie Institute of Technology library, will be present, as will Miss Charlotte, assistant extension librarian from the state library in Harrisburg. Mrs. Jeanne Lopez, local librarian, is vice president of the Lake Erie Association and temporary chairman of the Northwest District Association.

Mention was made that Mrs. Archibald conducted the special Easter Saturday story hour as well as substituting for Miss Minney, children's librarian, last Tuesday when she was absent because of the death of her father. Appreciation was expressed for Mrs. Archibald's timely help in a matter.

Attention was called to the interesting exhibit of ceramics by a high school student of Mrs. Linda Lawrence, art supervisor. A pottery is in the two display cases near the circulation desk.

There was discussion of the need for extensive repairs to the brick and stonework of the building. At the conclusion of this discussion, a meeting was adjourned.

LEADER WILL URGE MATES TO END RIOT

Jackson, Mich., April 22—(P)—A leader of mutinous convicts at riot-torn Southern Michigan state prison agreed today to appeal to his fellow inmates to stop their mutiny.

Prison officials and inmate Russell Jarbo, termed one of the ring-leaders in the bloody outbreak reached the agreement in truck talks held outside a prison block. Jarbo will speak over the prison radio at 2 p. m. in an effort to calm the prisoners, whose rampage caused an estimated $2,000,000 damage to the big prison.

Jarbo, one of the original 179 mutineers, apparently agreed to come out of the besieged cell block 15, center of the rioting, to make his radio appeal.

Dr. Vernon Fox, deputy warden, announced the result of his attempt to achieve a truce in the mutiny and rioting which has brought death to one convict and injured nine others.

Fox, after conferring with Warden Julian Frisbie, went this morning to cell block 15, where the mutineers are holding 11 guards as hostages.

After a short conference, through the prison bars, Fox went to the prison kitchen nearby, where he got a cart with two big kettles of food and rolled it into the cell block. Then after another brief talk with Mutiny Leader Earl E. Ward and others, Fox announced that Jarbo would come out of the cell block.

Gov. Dewey Heads New York Drive To Aid Eisenhower

Albany, N. Y., April 22—(P)—New Yorkers voted today in a quiet primary that is little more than a stepping stone in Gov. Dewey's sustained drive to deliver 96 votes to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the Republican national convention.

Dewey's spokesman, William L. Pfeiffer, state GOP chairman, has insisted that all of New York's votes, the greatest number of any state, will be cast for Eisenhower. Sen. Robert A. Taft has claimed 20 of the 96 delegates.

The final result in Chicago next July, probably somewhere between the two claims, will prove the extent of Dewey's control over the state Republican organization. There is considerable Taft support, especially in rural upstate counties. No other candidate has important strength.

Although elected delegates will be unpledged, Dewey's leadership and Taft-Eisenhower sentiment will be put to scattered tests today.

Of 11 Republican contests, only a handful loom as possible barometers.

NOT FOR HOOVER REPORT
Pittsburgh, April 22—(P)—Donald R. Wilson, National Commander of the American Legion, says Legionnaires "will bombard congress with letters, phone calls and telegrams if any attempt is made to enact the Hoover report into legislation." The Hoover report was submitted by a committee headed by former president Herbert Hoover. It recommends curtailment of government expenses.

Records Show Balloting in Warren At Noon Running Ahead of 1948 Primaries

Although voting in Warren is light today, it is running consistently ahead of 1948 Presidential primaries.

Records available from the Times-Mirror in April, 1948 show from a spot check that all wards with the exception of the first ward had lower totals at noon than today. In the first ward, a contest for the county Republican committee stepped up the voting interest.

A tabulation is as follows:

1948	Today
1st Ward	82
2nd Ward	53
3rd Ward	42
4th Ward	38
5th Ward	35
6th Ward	34
7th Ward	33
8th Ward	30
9th Ward	17

PRISONERS HOLD GUARDS INSIDE BARS—Prison Guard Thomas Elliot, left, stands inside the bars of the Michigan state penitentiary at Jackson, Mich., as his captor, Russell J. Jarbo, right, watches him. Elliot is one of 11 guards who have been captured as hostages by the 2600 rioting convicts. The rioting prisoners have threatened to behead a guard if more shooting takes place. One convict was killed and seven wounded when a group made a dash for freedom.

Commissioner Has Front Seat Before TV Screen For Record Explosion in Nevada

County Commissioner William Olney made a journey to Nevada today, he told the Times-Mirror, and witnessed the explosion of the A-bomb set off there at 12:30 p. m. eastern time. All via television.

Mr. Olney, at his home on Fifth street extension, watched the whole procedure and described it at some length. He told how the announcer built up the tension by telling that today was the first time an A-bomb explosion had been televised, and that it was not known what would happen.

A plane, flying at 36,000 feet dropped the bomb, and the seconds were ticked off as the zero point of 12:30 o'clock was reached. The bomb exploded 3,200 feet above the earth surface.

Mr. Olney said that the explosion appeared on the television screen as a black ball about the size of a baseball, with an intense red core. Within seconds, the black ball had mushroomed out to 12 inches across the screen and had the appearance of a white peony.

One and one-half minutes later, the sound hit and gave the impression of a huge thunderclap coming through the speaker. The down draft from the bomb struck the desert floor and sent huge clouds of sand flying.

Within 15 minutes, army personnel which was stationed in foxholes as near as deemed safe, emerged from their holes and mounted large army trucks to be taken into the area of the explosion.

At the same time, five C-46 planes, carrying 120 paratroopers, flew over to drop the men through the mushroom cloud, with equipment to test the radioactivity of the air on the way down.

TOT HURT IN FALL FROM CAR IMPROVED

The condition of Bonnie Gustafson, small daughter of Mrs. Robert A. Gustafson, 25 Ludlow street, who fell from a moving car near Kinzua on Sunday, was reported as good at Warren General Hospital today. The youngster suffered a fractured arm and leg and head lacerations.

She, with her mother, was a passenger in a car operated by Augustus Swick, 13 Wetmore street, for a Sunday ride. In the rear seat, the door was opened in some way unknown to other passengers and the little girl tumbled to the pavement.

Mr. Swick rushed her to the hospital and reported the incident to state police, later filing a written report to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Harrisburg.

Little Interest Being Displayed In Primary Despite Two-Ticket Drive By Supporters of "Ike"

By The Associated Press
Polls—Voting places in 8,421 precincts open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.
Registration—Republican 2,860,137; Democrat 1,855,487.
Expected vote—Estimates range from 15 to 35 per cent of registration totals.

Presidential preference contest—Names of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harold Stassen on Republican ballot. No names of presidential candidates on Democratic ballot. All write-in votes will be counted, even though names are misspelled or abbreviations used. The results are not binding on the convention delegates to be elected.

National convention delegates—Both major parties to select 60 delegates with one vote each. Republican state committee has already selected 10 delegates-at-large with one vote each. Democrats have picked 20 delegates-at-large, each with a half vote. Only major contest between Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft is for eight delegates from four congressional districts in Pittsburgh area where backers of each candidate have entered complete slate.

State tickets—Both parties to nominate candidates for U. S. Senator, one supreme court post, state treasurer and state auditor general. Republicans have contests for senate and supreme court; Democrats for senate and auditor general. Both parties also will pick candidates for 30 congressional seats, 25 state senate posts, all 208 members of the legislature.

Philadelphia, April 22—(P)—Fair skies brought out a relatively light early vote today in Pennsylvania's presidential primary, despite efforts of supporters to jar loose a two-ticket landslide for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Eisenhower's name was on the GOP preference (popularity) ballot along with that of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota. There were signs of a voluntary write-in for Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, despite his opposition to such a move.

Stassen, who is not regarded as likely to share in the 60 Republican convention delegates being elected today, voted early with his wife. He told reporters he would "make no predictions on the outcome."

In Philadelphia, expected to cast 300,000 of the estimated 1,600,000 state votes, precinct officials reported voting was slow during the morning hours.

A telephone campaign to get Democrats, as well as Republicans to vote for Eisenhower, was pushed by the general's supporters here. They pointed out the Democrats could write his name in on their preference ballot, on which no candidate is listed.

The two-ticket drive for Eisenhower was aimed at impressing state GOP leaders—including Gov. John S. Fine—with the general's popular strength with the hope of swaying the 70-vote, largely uncommitted delegation to him at the GOP Chicago convention.

Democrats were expected to make Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee their favorite in write-in votes on that party's ballot.

Pittsburgh, scene of the state's only head-on clash between Eisenhower and Taft delegate candidates, reported "light to fair" voting, although the balloting was heavier than customary in some of the suburban districts there.

Eisenhower and Taft backers were ringing phones in an effort to get out the citizens to pass on the eight delegate contests involved there.

With warm and sunny weather, Harrisburg reported "better than average" balloting, with women predominating among the voters.

Taft told his backers here not to bother to vote for him, contending the primary results won't affect the final vote of the convention delegates. In line with this, Taft's eastern manager, John D. M. Hamilton, claimed the Ohioan will have at least 25 of the 70 votes and a "substantial majority" if Fine—still on the fence—eventually goes over to Taft.

Chicago, April 22—(P)—A father of a soldier son killed in Korea has started court action to halt payment of $5,000 of his son's government insurance to an Army sergeant.

Frederick W. Ballentine of Montreal, Canada, in a suit filed in federal court yesterday, said one-half of his son's insurance was left to him and one-half to Robert Foutts, 22, of East Liverpool, O. The suit described Foutts as a gambling companion of Ballentine's son, Frederic D.

Foutts, 22, is in officers candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga. His mother, Mrs. Mae Foutts, 45, said her son had been a close friend of young Ballentine when they were students at Greenbrier Military School in Lewisburg, W. Va. She said her son attended Pennsylvania State College in 1949.

Ballentine's suit charged that Foutts had threatened young Ballentine with "public embarrassment and physical violence" if he did not make Foutts a co-beneficiary of the $10,000 policy.

Mrs. Foutts told a reporter in East Liverpool that "The Ballentine boy left my son the money because he befriended him (Ballentine) in school, and I have letters to prove it."

The suit, which named Foutts and the United States of America as defendants, charged that Foutts taught Ballentine gambling, "lowering his social and academic standings," and said young Ballentine became heavily indebted to Foutts.

Ballentine enlisted in the Army Feb. 16, 1948, and was killed in Korea Sept. 17, 1951. His father asked full payment of the insurance which had been taken out two days after young Ballentine enlisted.

Mrs. Foutts said Ballentine once spent a vacation at the Foutts home. She said Ballentine had written her son from Korea and thanked him "for helping in so many ways."

MOVE MADE TO IMPEACH PRESIDENT

Washington, April 22—(P)—A resolution asking impeachment of President Truman for seizing the steel mills was introduced in the house today by Rep. Hale (R-Me.). Along with it, Hale introduced a resolution which would declare the opinion of the house to be that the president violated the constitution and that the steel plants should be returned to private operation.

The impeachment resolution followed the standard form for such procedure. It was referred to the judiciary committee, where no action was expected. At least for the time being.

In a brief speech, Hale said the president's action was "an assault on the constitution of the United States."

On the other side of the capital, the senate resumed debate on a Republican-sponsored move to forbid spending government money to carry out the seizure.

Two senate committees called government and industry men before them for a discussion of the seizure.

Washington, April 22—(P)—Government and industry men were called into separate senate committee sessions today as the senate itself scheduled a vote on a new move to bar President Truman from making his seizure of the steel mills stick.

By a roll call of 44 to 31, the senate late yesterday aimed a slap at Truman's seizure order. After rounds of bitter debate, it hooked onto a $60-million dollar appropriation bill an amendment proposing (Turn to Page Seven)

STATE SENATORS ARE ABSENT FOR VOTING

Washington, April 22—(P)—Neither of Pennsylvania's senators, James H. Duff and Edward Martin (Republicans), voted when the senate approved an amendment by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) which would deny use of funds for enforcement of President Truman's seizure of the steel industry.

Both Pennsylvanians indicated that if they had been present for the voting yesterday they would have favored approval. The measure was passed 44-31.

Director Is Named For 1952 Season Of Summer Stock

The newly-created Arena Theater has named Richard Rapp its director for the 1952-summer season as plans move forward for the company's first year of stock production.

Mr. Rapp is a well known dance instructor in Warren and a former professional actor and dancer. He has been an active member of the Warren Players for several years and among the shows he has directed was the popular musical comedy of the past season, "No, No, Nanette."

The Arena Theater organizers also have selected other key workers for the summer stock season. Ned Shulman will head the production staff, Glen Neilson has been chosen stage manager and Charles Tranter, business manager. All are active in local theatrical presentations.

Mr. Rapp is currently considering a number of possible plays for the first production which is scheduled to open the early part of July. Rehearsals will begin the second week in June and casting of the show will start the latter part of May.

The director hopes that many of the community's actors and actresses will join the new summer activity and find satisfaction in working with the arena style of production which is becoming so popular throughout the country.

Mr. Rapp was a former member of the Erie Summer Playhouse and will bring a wealth of experience gained during his association with that group as well as with the Clare Tree Major Theater, the Shubert enterprises and the Ballet Russe.

The group is still considering a number of sites within Warren and will soon choose the one which can be most readily adapted to the arena style and provide the most comfort for the audience. To help defray the expenses of the theater, season memberships will be sold at a nominal cost and will go on sale sometime in May.

German Teacher To Study School Program in Boro

Guenther Thiel, a graduate of a teacher training college, Straubing, Germany, in 1945, will be in Warren for a program of study in the Warren public schools from April 22 to May 21. That Warren sponsor this visitation was requested by Paul S. Bodenman, specialist in the Department of International Educational Programs in the U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Thiel has taught in small schools near Pfarrkirchen, Germany, in the second through the eighth grades. From May, 1950, until he came to the United States he taught the first and second grades in Waldhof, Germany.

He is especially concerned with the forms of education for social living, such as social studies, sociology, philosophy and literature. In Warren his program will probably include an orientation of the Pennsylvania school system, a study of the role of the elementary schools in the Warren school system, study and observation of the teaching methods, the curricula, the extra-curricular activities, and community life.

After spending the initial phase of his training in America at the University of Florida, he will come here from a visitation of the schools in Mount Vernon, Ill., under J. L. Buford, superintendent of the Mount Vernon schools.

While in Warren he will be a guest of Supt. and Mrs. Carl E. Whipple, 28 Franklin street. Mr. Thiel speaks English fairly well, and he will be available for talks and visits in the community.

State College To Honor Local Pupil

State College—Julian Max Gordon, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Gordon, of 112 Conewango avenue, Warren, will be presented a gold Evan Pugh Medal at the annual Honors Day program to be held at the Pennsylvania State College on Monday night, April 28.

The medal, which honors Evan Pugh, the first president of the college, is awarded annually to juniors and seniors for outstanding academic achievement.

Gordon also will be cited at the program as recipient of the Phi Eta Sigma Award, an award given by the local chapter of the men's freshman honor society in recognition of scholarship and participation in activities.

Gordon is a graduate of Warren High school and attended Edinboro State Teachers College before his transfer to Penn State where he is a senior in commerce. He is head manager of the varsity tennis team, a member of Blue Key, campus society; treasurer of the Hillel Foundation; and for the past two years has served as treasurer of his fraternity, Alpha Epsilon Pi.

LOCAL SEAMAN AIDS BLOOD DONOR RECORD

Richard M. Storum, aviation electronics technician third class, USN, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall R. Storum, 201 Jackson avenue, has a share in a record of which his naval outfit or any other might well be proud.

Crewmen of the Navy's Helicopter Anti-Submarine Squadron 2, along with other utility squadrons based at Ream Field, San Diego, Calif., recently donated a record of 775 pints of blood to the Red Cross in eight hours. This broke the station's record of 540 pints in seven hours, set on November 2, and the Red Cross stated it believed this to be a new national record, also.

The San Diego Red Cross director of blood donor recruitment called the operation "one of the most successful ever performed in this area."

NATIONAL Y. W. C. A. WEEK

This week, the Young Women's Christian Associations throughout the country observe their fifth National YWCA Week. In Warren and in hundreds of other communities of the nation, over three million YWCA members take part in this annual observance. This year, National YWCA Week is built around the slogan "On Your Own - - But Not Alone. Join Your YWCA."

The slogan expresses the YW's philosophy in relation to the young women and girls with whom it works - - the belief in the right of every individual to be herself, respect for the dignity of each personality, and the assurance of fellowship with others who work together for the common good.

Founded in 1855 as a "ladies' prayer circle to pray for and guide the working girls away from home," the YWCA, in the nearly 100 years since, has grown into an international organization with a program designed to meet the needs of both young girls and women. Today, in 431 communities and 657 student associations in this country, along with thousands of others in 65 lands abroad, it offers a program of revitalizing activities for its members.

The YWCA has come a long way in the past century in broadening its program, but it has never lost sight of its original founding purpose - - "to build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians."

It welcomes women and girls from every walk of life, encourages them to grow into effective personalities, to make the most of what they are, and, at the same time, find friends who will work with them as a force for good in the community.

WRETCHED SITUATION

The dispute between President Truman and members of congress over seizure of the steel industry is further evidence of the breakdown in relations between the White House and the Capital, says James Marlow, Associated Press writer, in a feature article from Washington today.

The most recent previous demonstration of how deep the split was appeared in what happened to Truman's attempt to have an investigation for government corruption. That was when he asked Congress for subpoena powers for Newbold Morris.

The then Attorney General McGranery had picked Morris as the clean-up man. McGranery not only denied him the subpoena powers but some members denounced him, thus for all practical purposes scuttling the investigation.

When it came to the steel seizure government lawyers apparently could find no law on the books specifically giving the president authority to take over the steel industry to head off a strike.

Truman decided such a strike would hurt defense and so damage the national welfare. Since he seemed to lack specific authority in any law for the seizure, he relied on the constitution.

The powers conferred on the president and commander-in-chief by the constitution are broad and vague. They don't say he could seize the steel industry in a situation like this. But they don't specifically say he couldn't.

Truman interpreted the constitution as giving the president unstated but wide and implied power to act as he did in this case when he thinks there is a national emergency and that the country might suffer if he didn't.

At once his critics in congress hailed him a dictator and usurper of constitutional powers which they argue don't exist.

The fat was in the fire again. And yesterday the senate, led by Republicans, voted what was in effect a rebuke to Truman for his action in the steel dispute.

Truman struck right back. He called this kind of senate action negative. He challenged Congress to take a constructive step by suggesting by law some way out of the steel dilemma.

Along toward evening a member of Truman's own Democratic party, Sen. Maybank of South Carolina, said his powerful banking and currency committee would recommend a law positively forbidding the president to take such action.

Meanwhile, the government has the industry and may raise the union's wages without giving the industry the price increase it wants. All of which complicates the dilemma but doesn't clarify it.

"Er—I'll Sit This One Out"

Here And There

Today we have news for those of you who may be under the impression that the "hit and run" operator is of comparative modern speed. This discovery was made while browsing through the April, 1952, file of The Warren Evening Mirror which carried an article about a bicycle rider who ran down a young girl while cycling in Water street, and failed to stick around long enough to make his identity known. Says the item:

Mr. H. S. Southard, of Bradford, who is registered at the Carver Hotel, reported to Mr. Harrington, manager of the hotel, that early this morning, before seven o'clock, some one who was riding a wheel on Water street sidewalk, ran upon a little girl, throwing her to the sidewalk with considerable force.

Mr. Southard did not know the man or the little girl, and Mr. Southard being unknown, could not be found, and the particulars of the accident could not be learned. Where, on Water street, the accident occurred, and whether the girl was injured or not, could not be ascertained.

Mr. Southard said that after the little girl had been knocked down, the rider of the machine lost no time in getting out of sight, not stopping to see whether the girl was injured, dead or alive, after the collision.

The question arises whether the being who could be guilty of such conduct, under the circumstances, was a man or some other kind of creature. It is to be hoped that his identity will be made known and that some penalty will be applied.

The law in reference to riding of wheels on some walks is generally observed by wheelmen, but occasionally some "smart alec" bobs up and the pity of it is that he can not be caught at it.

The result will eventually be that the privilege which has been granted to wheelmen will be withdrawn, and they will be compelled to take to the streets or make themselves liable to arrest. Bicyclers should take the matter in hand and co-operate with the officials in the matter of bringing these lawbreakers to account.

A few other items of present-day interest taken from the same page of the Mirror sixty years ago include: Ice Cream at the Greek-American Confection Co., 302 Second avenue; Gas has been struck at Austin, Potter County, but the pressure is said to be weak, and the jubilation of the people much stronger than the pressure. A grand mass meeting of the congregation will be held in the Methodist church this evening, to celebrate their emancipation from debt, when the papers which once represented the obligations of the congregation will be cremated and the Rev. J. M. Thoburn, of Oil City, will address the gathering; the Warren Cornet Band will give a grand ball at the State Armory this evening, with music being furnished by an orchestra of ten pieces; Er Lindsey, who spent the two past weeks with his parents returned to New York to resume his law studies; W. M. Lindsey, O. C. Allen, W. A. Mitchell, L. C. Baker and M. A. Myers are attending a meeting of Republicans of the 27th district being held at Kane.

This 'n That: The first street oiling to come to our attention will be found at Redwood, in the Conewango section, but there are many others that should have the treatment, as will be observed by dust-covered cars parked around the town these days. . . . Considerable activity was observed at Bealy Field last evening, with many Hot Stove Leaguers and softball players lumbering up in anticipation of games to come before too long. . . . All over town bonfires were burning last evening, or residents were burning off grass and weeds. . . . And an unusually large number of followers of Izak Walton were observed fishing at the dam in the Conewango, and the outlet of the stream near the mouth of the Allegheny river. . . . Similar activity was observed along the creek above the State Hospital dam, where a group of youngsters seemed to be having exceptionally good luck. . . . In case you are looking for spring flowers in attractive arrangement, the way leading into the Assembly of God Church at the corner of Fourth and Liberty street, is a sight to behold right now, lined as it is, on each side with yellow daffodils in full bloom. . . . Spring is in the air and so are jet planes, according to the comment of three youths, loafing on a hillside, which has the real touch of the season, as shown by Jim Williams in his "Out Our Way" release on the comic page today. . . . Elks are reminded of the reception for Grand Exalted Ruler Howard R. Davis at the club house Wednesday from 4:30 until 6:00 o'clock. . . . The induction group will be given a royal sendoff this evening when they board the train for Harrisburg and everyone is invited to join in the ceremony.

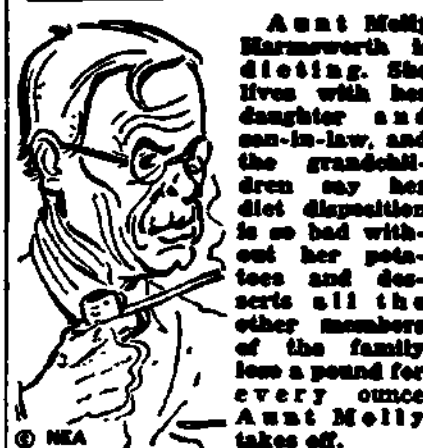

More than 45,000,000,000 quarts of milk are produced annually in the United States.

There are about twice as many kinds of fishes as there are of birds, mammals and amphibians put together.

You Can Now Obtain Seed of Four New Forage Crops

The Foundation Seed Project, established a few years ago through cooperation between the U. S. Department of Agriculture and State Crop Improvement Associations, has made certified seed available in commercial quantities of four improved forage crops: Ranger, Buffalo and Atlantic alfalfa and Kenland red clover. Their regions of adaptation are shown on the accompanying maps.

Ranger alfalfa is a variegated alfalfa both winterhardy and wilt-resistant. It will survive and remain productive in the Northern States for a much longer time than Grimm or other older varieties. The superiority of Ranger is based on its wilt-resistance and longevity under adverse winter conditions. Certified seed can now be obtained from local seed dealers.

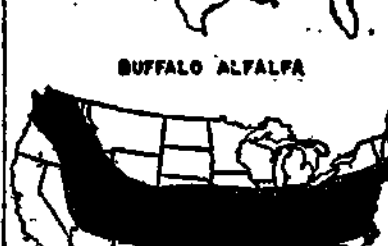

Buffalo alfalfa, like Ranger, is wilt-resistant but is not as winter-hardy. It is bred from Kansas Common from which it cannot be distinguished in the field. It makes a more rapid recovery after cutting than Kansas Common, will survive longer on wilt-laden soils, and yields well after other susceptible varieties have disappeared. Its large fall growth and rapid recovery have made it popular. Probably a large part of present needs can be met with the current seed supply.

Atlantic alfalfa is noted for its high yields in areas not infested with bacterial wilt. Its yields in comparison with most other standard varieties over this large area have been outstanding. Certified seed is available commercially but not in quantities sufficient for the area where it is adapted.

Kenland red clover has come to the front in the South and up into the Central States of the Corn Belt. It is resistant to southern anthracnose but not to northern anthracnose. It is a better soil builder than ordinary red clover and gives better yields of both forage and seed in its main area of adaptation. A good supply of certified seed is available.

Extra costs to grower and dealer of handling true seed of improved varieties, especially certified seed, make the selling price to the farmer higher than for ordinary stock. The extra cost of seed, however, is money well spent in the variety's area of adaptation.

There are other superior new varieties of forage crops of which the seed is not yet available in more than limited quantities. Among these are Narragansett and Talent alfalfa, Williamette sweet clover, Rowan lespedeza, Lancaster, Lyon and Homestead bromegrass and many others. Production of these will have to be increased materially before seed will become generally available.

PICTURE NEWS

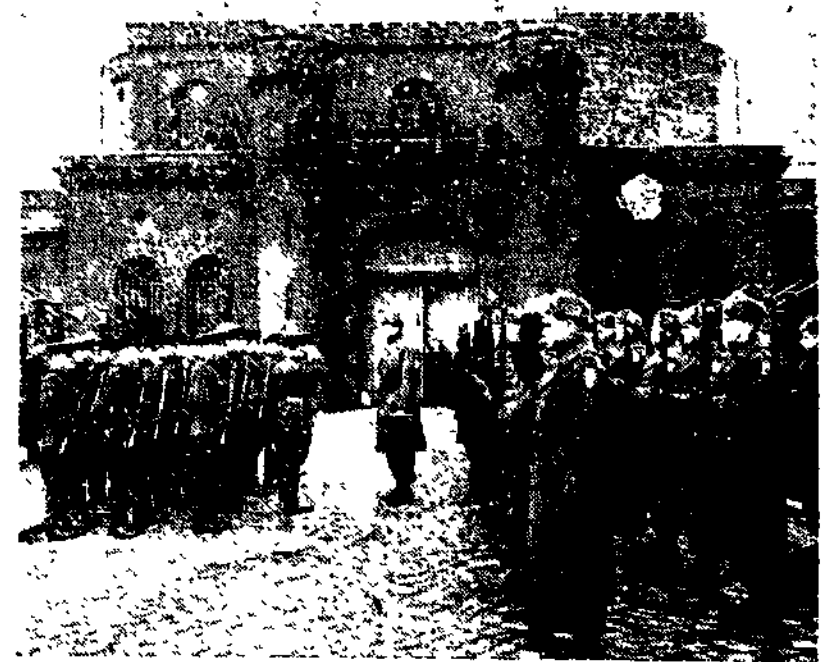

AROUND THE WORLD

AIR RAID DRILL—During an air raid drill in New York, Civil Defense workers are shown lowering an "injured man" in a body bag down a cable from the top story of a building in the Bronx. When the city's 579 sirens roared an alert, about 50,000 Civil Defense workers went into action for exercises in which it was assumed that two atom bombs hit the city.

HERE TO HELP—Some of a group of 29 Samoans are shown as they arrived in San Francisco aboard a chartered Pan American clipper. The farm hands are the first of a total of 46 being brought to the U. S. at a cost of $20,000 to ease the farm labor shortage on California's largest celery farm. They'll remain for 29 months and be paid the prevailing wage.

IT'S ALL WET—A sign offering curb service adds an ironic note at Sioux Falls, S. D., as the Big Sioux River rises and overflows its banks. Even a rowboat couldn't get any service here under present conditions. After the water had broken through a dike, the impending danger caused families in the vicinity to leave their homes for greater safety.

WHEN A HORSE NEEDS A PAL
IN A JAM—When a 14-year-old drayhorse fell into a canal in Indianapolis, Ind., while pulling a coal wagon, top, his owner, police and spectators all worked to free "Jack" from the bog. Carl Bridewell, the animal's owner, is shown pleading with the horse which whinnies in fear as the mud and wagon drag it down in the water, below. After the harness was cut to release the burden, George Garrison, a spectator, waded into the water and fastened a rope around Jack's neck, top photo. Then, with lines secured, the horse surged forward and out of the bog as helpers on the other end heaved mightily on the rope. Although cold, wet and uncomfortable, Jack was otherwise none the worse for the experience.

FOR THE PRESIDENT—Fisherman Guy Carroll wears a grin almost as big as the salmon he caught at the Bangor, Me., salmon pool. It was the first caught in the U. S. this season and the custom is to send it packed on ice to the President in Washington. The Bangor Salmon Club paid Carroll three dollars a pound for the 7½-pounder caught with rod and reel.

ALL SET—The USS Trigger, first of the postwar-built submarines to join the U. S. Navy, approaches her berth at the Submarine Base at New London, Conn., prior to being commissioned into service. The sleek Trigger is the first of six to be delivered, and command of the vessel goes to Comdr. Edward L. Beach, USN, who will cruise her around the world. (U.S. Navy Photo)

RIGHT FOOD AT RIGHT TIME—Sandy, a seven-year-old golden spaniel, had a bib around his neck in London, England, and was just waiting for a signal to start in on his Easter egg with that spoon and a salt shaker. His manners were extremely doggy as Sandy was on his best behavior for the event.

LOOKING AROUND—Cheryl Hansen, a shapely former "Miss Hollywood," adds her own personal scenery to the view at El Rancho Vegas, in Las Vegas, Nev. Cheryl's mere presence in the locality gave a boost to the local Chamber of Commerce, and the tourists as well.

FROM HIS TO HERS—No longer appropriate is the old name "His Majesty's Theatre" on the marquee of the Haymarket Theatre in London. Workmen are carrying a new sign which fits the reign of Queen Elizabeth II, since the crown has passed from a King to a Queen. Many similar signs have also been changed.

Reservations For May Play Opened

Edna Glasser, box office chairman of Warren Players, announces reservations for "The Silver Whistle", to be presented at the Woman's Club May 8-9, are now being taken.

She advises both members and those wishing single admission tickets to send a self-addressed and stamped envelope for their season tickets or checks to Box 583; stating desired location of seats and the night for which they are to be made. Miss Glasser, as always, reminds "it's first come, first served" and the best seats are to be the first chosen.

The committee has found this method of handling reservations much more satisfactory for all concerned than the holding of seats at the box office and will appreciate the cooperation of play-goers in mailing their orders soon.

MR. AND MRS. CLAUDE ALLEN, JR.

Palms and baskets of spring flowers, with candelabra on the altar, made a lovely setting Saturday evening in Clarendon Methodist church for the wedding of Marguerite Brown Lyle, 3 Averill street, Warren, and Claude Allen, Jr., son of Mrs. Nettie Allen, Clarendon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Sr., Irvine Star Route.

Dr. H. H. Barr read the double ring service at 7:30 o'clock and Jane Nelson, Clarendon, was at the organ to play "Because," "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me," "A Ways," and "In the Garden of Tomorrow."

The bride was gown in bridal pink nylon tulle and lace over satin, with imported Chantilly lace forming the bodice and front skirt panel. Her two-tier veil of imported illusion net fell fingertip length from a lace cap trimmed with satin and seed pearls; her three-strand pearls were the bridegroom's gift, and her white prayer book was topped with white roses and a shower of satin streamers.

She was given in marriage by her brother, William Brown, Jr., of Tidoute, and attended by Mrs. Clarence Ecklund, Clarendon, as matron of honor; Jean Vavala and her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Brown, Jr., as bridesmaids. Mrs. Ecklund was gown in yellow chiffon and carried a colonial bouquet of Talisman roses which matched a floral headband. The bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and wore matching headbands, Miss Vavala in green taffeta and Mrs. Brown wearing blue organza.

Completing the bridal party, Clarence Ecklund was best man.

Hire House, Yard Work Done
If Husbands Sit Down on Job

A WIFE complains in a letter to me: "My husband has regular working hours which give him plenty of time at home, including half of Saturday and all day Sunday. "Yet he doesn't do anything to keep our house and yard in shape. "Little repairs around the house that he could make in a few minutes go undone for months. The yard, which could be beautiful, always looks neglected. "If I keep after him to do these things, then I am nagging." What would you suggest, I do?"

You might try finding out how much a carpenter would charge for coming out and making all the small repairs that need to be made. Then tell your husband pleasantly that you can get the repairs made for such-and-such a price. If he tells you to go ahead, then you'll have what you want.

DON'T MAKE AN ISSUE OF IT
If, instead, he thinks the matter over and says, "Why, I can do them myself," tell him you'll help him get the tools together right now. Same with the yard work. Find out what you can get a yard man to work for by the hour and ask your husband if he wants you to hire one to get the yard in shape.

The thing is, don't make an issue of your husband doing the work himself. Maybe he would rather pay to have it done—and if he would that ought to be all right with you.

Remember, your main objective isn't to make your husband over, but to get some specific jobs done.

If you'll keep that in mind you can probably accomplish your objective without nagging and without any unpleasantness.

J. C. PENNEY'S

DRAMATIC TESTIMONY
OF A CHRISTIAN'S
SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

A SPIRITUAL autobiography written by one of the real merchant princes of our time. This is the story of an empire based on the Golden Rule, a fascinating life story by the man who lived it.

There is perhaps no greater inspiration for the Christian business man than the experiences of this man whose faith was the motivating force in his life. Starting with nothing, Mr. Penney was worth millions at the age of 50. At 58 he was in a hospital near death, his fortune gone and his honor impugned in the courts. Read how his faith never wavered, but grew stronger, and how he again rose to the pinnacle of financial success and regained his spiritual resources as well.

Featured at Club Party

The committee on arrangements for the formal dinner party at the Conewango Club Saturday evening, last social event of the current season, feels it has been very fortunate in engaging John Mulholland, world renowned magician, to headline the evening's entertainment. Additional program features will include Milton Munn, of Erie, whose piano, abilities need no recommendation for his native Warren audiences; and the Conewango Quartet. Reservations for this springtime affair will close at noon Wednesday and members will do well to get their tickets as early as possible.

Many wonderful things have been written about the art of John Mulholland. Burns Mantle refers to him as "my idea of a real magician"; Deems Taylor calls him "the best magician I have ever seen"; Lowell Thomas describes him as "one of the world's foremost".

The Mulholland tale of magic goes back to his school days, when he established an enviable reputation and came to be one of the celebrated performers of magic; and wrote with simplicity and charm on the subject. His definition of magic, "the art of creating illusion agreeably", is followed in all his performances. He not only creates the most astounding impossible feats, but does them with a delightful ease and the most agreeable and friendly manner.

John Mulholland is the only man in America to be listed in Who's Who because of his prominence in America to be made an honorary vice president and awarded the Gold Star which the Magic Circle of England gives for exceptional ability; the only American to receive the Robert-Houdin medal of the Association des Artistes Prestidigitateurs of France. Magicians of China, Japan, India and Malaya have joined their European colleagues in honoring this American wizard.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schuler entertained Saturday evening at their home in North Warren honoring Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Buzard, uncle and aunt of Mrs. Schuler, who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Buzard and the former Helen Barrett, were married in Armstrong county in April, 1900, coming shortly afterward to make their home in North Warren.

The Saturday evening party was a beautiful affair, with sisters, Mrs. Anna Sherman and Mrs. Janet Winspear, and brother, R. M. Barrett, nieces, nephews, grandnieces and nephews, 55 in all, gathered to help the couple celebrate a marriage that has been a happy one.

They were the recipients of many nice gifts and refreshments were served from a table that was perfect in appointments, from the beautiful centerpiece of flowers to the wedding cake that was cut by the honored ones.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Winspear, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Slingerland and family, Alliance, O.; Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Sherman, Miss Marjorie Sherman and M. C. Sherman, Miss Marjorie Sherman and M. C. Sherman, Allegany, N. Y.

STUDENT RECITAL AT CONSERVATORY

Featured number in the weekly student recital at the Conservatory of Music Saturday evening was the Vivaldi-Bach "Fugue and Aria", played by Norine Granguliet, who showed excellent command of the technique required for this noted number from the classic period. Her playing showed a wealth of expression, fine phrasing and well-defined dynamic contrasts.

HONORED BY FRIENDS—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Messenger, 411 Rankin street, who had their 64th wedding anniversary April 21, were honored Saturday evening when about 80 neighbors and other friends, including many connected with the Masonic fraternity, gathered at the American Legion Home for a very pleasant open house. Mr. and Mrs. Gail Cobb came from Cleveland and Mrs. Elsie Scott from Westfield to join in the celebration.

Habold Ross proved himself an able emcee in handling the introductions and seeing that everyone signed the guest book. Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Marie Decker presided at the very pretty refreshment table, which was done in pink and white and centered with white tapers and flowers which were the gift of Sherm Offler. A wedding cake in the same colors bore names of the couple, with 1929-1952, and the same numerals were repeated on the napkins, while ice cream served with the cake was centered with a "64". Guests remembered the honored ones with many cards and gifts of money and enjoyed the fun of viewing tins taken about the time of the Messengers' wedding.

DESERTERS DRIVING CAR PARTLY PAID FOR

It was expected that someone representing the Southwell Garage, Valdosta, Ga., would arrive in Warren today to return to that city the car driven by two Army deserters, Ernest N. Barr and Charles T. Foster, who were picked up in Sheffield, April 10, by Deputy Sheriff Sandy Secor and Highway Patrolman Jack Krupoy, on suspicion.

It developed that the two soldiers had made a down payment on the car before leaving the Station Hospital at Moody Air Force Base, Ga., on a three-day pass, hence the car had not been stolen, but a tracer was put out for it when a finance company declined to handle the transaction and when the two men over-stayed their leave about 30 days.

They were turned over to Cpl. Franklin V. Morton of the U. S. Military Police, who came here to take them to Pittsburgh, April 11. The car has been stored in the Annex Garage.

MANY FROM HERE AT MARKET DINNER

Tonight's press dinner to be held at Hotel Jamestown in connection with the Spring Furniture Market will feature the third day of the annual event, and will see several local furniture manufacturers in attendance.

Kenneth E. Forsgren, president of the Crescent Furniture Company, and T. K. Creal, general manager, and M. A. Marshall, sales manager, Fairmont Furniture Company, will be present as will Gordon Kay, designer for the Youngsville Star Manufacturing Company, and the firm's advertising representative, George Mitchell of Erie.

Gerold M. Ostergard, sales manager, and Ned E. Lauffer, treasurer, Phenix Furniture Company, are attending the exhibitions today.

Although business at the Spring Market on Monday was reported extremely slow, it is expected that Wednesday, when most of the stores in the area are closed for a half day, will see a large turnout of dealers.

Move Made To Impeach President

ed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) forbidding use of any of the money to carry out the order.

Actually none of this seizure is needed to enforce the measure, but Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), the GOP floor leader, said it was a gesture of senate disapproval.

The senate banking committee called the "big four" of the defense mobilization and wage-price control program to a closed-door meeting committee leaders said the meeting might spark a new drive to hobble the president's disputed powers to seize any strike-threatened plants.

They called in John R. Steelman, Truman's No. 1 "trouble shooter" and acting defense mobilizer; Roger L. Putnam, defense stabilizer; Ellis Arnall, price administrator; and Nathan Feinsinger, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB).

Leader Will Urge Mates to End Riot

the block at 2 p. m. to appeal to his mates.

Despite the announcement of the appeal, tension still gripped the big prison in the wake of yesterday's wild rioting.

Two hundred state police and scores of guards patrolled the prison. Practically all the nearly 5,000 inmates were kept locked in cell blocks. Four of the troopers had been injured up to today.

Some minor incidents occurred today as prisoners set fire to wads of paper and tossed them through cell bars. The guards, however, ignored them.

Meals were served in the cell blocks instead of the mess hall. Rioters tore up the mess hall yesterday.

EARTHQUAKE AN AID TO OIL PRODUCTION

Oklahoma City, April 22.—(AP)—Oilmen and geologists won't say for sure, but they believe the recent earthquakes gave Oklahoma oil production a shot in the arm.

Production, since the quakes, has increased about 3,000 barrels a day to over 531,000 barrels daily. The current theory is that the quake loosened formations, allowing the oil to flow to the surface more quickly.

County Residents Arrested for Thefts

Two Warren county residents, arrested Monday by Deputy Sheriff Sandy Secor and Officer John R. Krupoy of the Pennsylvania State Police, will face arraignment on individual charges of the theft of logs and tools.

Charles R. Allen, 32, Grand Valley RD 1, was arrested on the charge of his employer, Henry Onley of Grand Valley, that Allen had borrowed a truck and removed a load of cherry logs, valued at $100, from Onley's property to a mill, for sale. It is alleged that Allen, engaged by Onley to cut paperwood, had found the trees in the woods and had cut the logs for removal at his convenience, which was accomplished on Sunday.

Manley R. Langworthy, of Tryonville, was arrested by Secor and Krupoy on the charge of Tony Stec of 880 East Main street, Corry, who claimed Langworthy had taken tools, valued at $175, from Stec's sawmill in Pittsfield township.

Revenue Collectors Are Highly Praised By Commissioner

Highly complimentary in his praise of Hon. Stanley Granger, Collector of Internal Revenue in Pittsburgh, and his staff, is Commissioner of Internal Revenue John B. Dunlap, as a result of the Pittsburgh office having completed its refunding program just three days after the deadline for filing returns on income taxes.

"This was one of the most pleasant bits of news I have received since I became Commissioner of Internal Revenue," wrote Commissioner Dunlap to Mr. Granger.

"It was indeed gratifying to learn that your office found it possible to get the refunds into the hands of the taxpayers within so short a time. Also, I was pleased to hear that your employees were able to do the job without putting in any appreciable amount of overtime. This certainly is a testimonial to their industry during the regular working hours."

"Please convey to all your employees who helped make this splendid showing my thanks for a job well done, and be sure that I appreciate your own part in this achievement."

A copy of Commissioner Dunlap's letter has been received by Deputy Commissioner N. J. Mangus, Warren.

WARREN TRACK SQUAD TO OPEN AGAINST TITUSVILLE ON FRIDAY; YOUNGVILLE WORKS OUT TODAY

With the purpose of giving the new members of the Warren High School track team a chance at some experience, an informal practice meet has been scheduled with Youngsville High for this afternoon on Beatty field.

The events, which will have no letterman competing, will be run off by Warren's head coach, Loyal Briggs, assistant Joe Massa and Dave Olson, and will get under way sometime after 3:15.

The Eagles, under the mentorship of Charley Paul, will not be expected to do much against the local thincads for several reasons. This is the first year for track in Youngsville in many seasons, meaning an entirely green squad. The cindermen from out-of-town have also been without a practice field due to the bad weather conditions and have been doing their running mostly around the school. They have had no chance for field work at all.

Although the top Warren speedsters will not be participating, Coach Briggs will still be able to field a good crew. No points, however, will be kept track of.

The Dragons open the 1952 campaign this Friday afternoon against Titusville, a formidable foe that upset powerful and veteran laden Oil City, 68-59, last week. As usual, the Dragons' biggest headache will be Donnie Bird, a real Rocket when it comes to speed.

Youngsville's next practice foe will be Corry on April 29.

Through The Wind Tunnel

Little Davie Harrison arrived home early last evening proud and beaming over his first catch of fish. It would be embarrassing if his teacher father turned out to be too good an instructor, and he had to tell him to stick to his history.

If you can't find anyone around on a Monday night, they are either attending meetings or playing bridge.

State College should be well represented by Warren people this weekend between the scholastic press conference, at which many high school students will be attending, and the Olympic gymnastic tryouts.

Frank Fago seems to think the Governor Fenton has a dark atmosphere. Is it that the lights are just low, or what?

John Stachowak's typing is beginning to make us think he is the most improved, untrained typist in Warren.

Signs of Spring: Youngsters, with nice strings of fish, walking along the creek drive near Oakview. . . Littlefield, with new lawn roller, busy rolling all the lawns near North Warren dam. . . A beautiful forsythia bush in full bloom up against St. Paul's Lutheran church. . . The door at the 4th ward voting house wide open, and an all-women board enjoying the spring breezes as Don Cummings patrolled the walk outside. . . Nummy Highhouse with a more-than-usual far-away expression on his face. . . Our favorite blonde pedestrian walking up the avenue, sans stockings. . . The banks of the Conewango, at the North Warren dam, lined with fishermen. . . Leo Gibson, busily at work with rake and shovel. . . Mrs. Grimsley's yard the best-looking of all, and she's justly proud. . . Dean Vealing and Toby Shea, gradually recovering after a hard day's work, Saturday, at amateur gardening, ready to resume work in a few days, it is hoped. . . And Jimmy Vavala with spring written all over him; he's been that way ever since he met her in the dead of winter!

Twenty-five per cent of all drivers involved in fatal automobile accidents in the U. S. last year were under 25 years old.

Coleman Rates .559 In Batting Average; Fain Is in Cellar

By JOE REICHLER
New York, April 22 (AP)—Figures never lie but statistical-minded fans must have wondered as they scanned the American League batting averages yesterday. And who could blame them? What name do you think headed the list of hitters? George Kell? Ted Williams? Larry Doby? Ferris Fain? No, Sir! It was none other than Gerry Coleman of the New York Yankees.

Coleman, who swatted a robust .249 and placed exactly 104th last year, was leading the pack with a torrid .559 mark.

And what name was on the bottom of the list of about 200 hitters? Some wild swinging pitcher? Or some nervous, rookie reserve infielder? Not at all. Last on the list was none other than last year's batting king, Ferris Fain of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Coleman, who never has hit .300 in his big league career, had collected 10 hits in 18 times at bat, hitting safely in each of his first five games. Fain, who hit .344 in 1951 was batting exactly .000. The fancy-fielding first baseman had come to bat his first 21 times without making a single safety.

Stanky Gives Cards Lessons Stock, Durocher Taught Him

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Cardinals tell you that Eddie Stanky taught them a lot of baseball this Spring.

Most ball players becoming managers are apprehensive. They begin to wonder whether they can run the works.

But there isn't the slightest doubt in Muggsy Stanky's mind about his being able to successfully steer the blokes in the red blazers. The Rustling Russian is as positive on that score as he is in connection with anything else having to do with baseball.

Stanky is teaching the Cards the baseball he learned from Milton Stock and Leo Durocher.

The greatest thing that ever happened to Philadelphia's Edward Raymond Stanky was when Frank Lawrence of the Portsmouth club of the Piedmont League shipped him down to Macon of the South Atlantic in 1939. There young Stanky met Milton Stock, the one-time National League infielder now coaching the Pittsburgh club.

Stanky had kicked around in the low minors for four years without getting anywhere at all, but in the Sally League got a fresh slant on the game by which he was so enthralled.

Stanky was ready for the big adventure some time before he completed a splendid three-year run under Stock in Macon. He had the formula. He even married the boss' daughter, Myrtle (Dickie) Stock.

STOCK and Stanky are of the same size—five feet eight, 160 pounds. Their playing problems were the same.

"Milt Stock taught me the value of a good lead-off man," says Stanky, who became the daddy of them all. "He showed me the importance of the bunt and what it meant to play heads-up team baseball. He picked up the odds and ends and wrapped them into one saleable package."

Next to Stock as an impartor of baseball knowledge, Manager Stanky rates Leo Durocher.

"It's great to have known Leo," he says. "There's one manager who will never quit or get baseball out of his system."

"From Leo I picked up the percentages—infield in or back, intentional walks, etc. The guy's a wonder from 1:30 to 4:30 and from 8:30 to 10:30 at night."

"The Cardinals will play Durocher's kind of baseball. They'll hit and run, steal, squeeze and gamble all the while."

Fred Saigh put the Giants' carburetor in the Cardinals when he signed Eddie Stanky.

High Waters Slow State Shad Program

Harrisburg, April 22 (AP)—The state Fish Commission said today that high waters have forced a temporary suspension of its shad-rucking program in the Susquehanna River.

The commission said it had been informed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service that all seining of had below the Susquehanna river arms has been halted for the time being.

Commercial fishermen who were securing the shad for the experiment had to remove their nets from the swollen river, the commission reported.

As soon as conditions are favorable and commercial fishermen resume operations, the program will be resumed, the commission said.

Under the program, aimed at possible restoration of Pennsylvania's one-time million-dollar shad industry, the shad are to be transported around the Susquehanna arms in tank trucks.

The fish then would be released in the upper section of the river and tributaries, after having been tagged, to test whether the stream will can support them.

In 1951, 9,470 pedestrians were killed in U. S. traffic accidents.

Stanky Gives Cards Lessons Stock, Durocher Taught Him

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Cardinals tell you that Eddie Stanky taught them a lot of baseball this Spring.

Most ball players becoming managers are apprehensive. They begin to wonder whether they can run the works.

Seasoned Veterans Will Be Featured In Class B League

By SAUL KOHLER
Harrisburg-Patriot-News
Sports Writer

Harrisburg, April 22.—(P)—The Class B Interstate League opens its season tomorrow night with prospects for a faster, harder-hitting and generally stronger circuit than last year.

Only two managers—Dutch Dorman of the pennant-winning Hagerstown Braves and Whitey Kurowski of the 1951 second-place Allentown Cardinals—will be back. Salisbury (Md.), which finished deep in the cellar in 1951, has a new working agreement with the Cincinnati Reds, while the Harrisburg Senators this year will have a partial working agreement with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Club executives were optimistic when they discussed prospects for the year and almost all agreed that veteran players rather than the usual run of rookies will be featured in the lineups.

When you talk of the York White Roses, talk about speed by horse reports from the St. Louis Browns' training camp indicated that most of the players run the bases as though they were equipped with motors.

Wilmington's Blue Rocks, who won the Governor's Cup playoffs last season, will have a pitching staff that's something close to colossal, if General Manager Jimmy Ward is right. Though Tom (40 Grand) Casagrande is in Baltimore this season and Niles Jordan is in the major leagues, Ward thinks his team is a cinch for first place.

On to New Orleans' Say Scouts When Nearing Brady's Bend on Canoe Cruise

(Written by one of the boys from Explorer Post 12 about their canoe trip down the Allegheny from Warren to Brady's Bend.)

We left at 8 a. m. sharp after saying goodbye to families and friends who had assembled.

Scout Executive Rut Sanford was there but his partner, Rell Hoskins, for whom an extra large canoe without ballast had been provided, didn't show up!

After passing under the railroad bridge, we formed up by laying out one another's canoe gunnels. In this manner, all six canoes traveled side by side. This maneuver was accomplished under instructions and rules for the trip. At other times we formed up for rest periods and lunching (often). We sometimes drifted three miles while, eating, lunch. At Star Brick, some of the parents said a last goodbye from their cars before turning back home.

One canoe came near turning over where a large rock caused vicious currents behind an island. The group liked to split up and go behind the islands until two thrash their way out of the brush to find themselves miles behind the leaders. The current for the entire trip probably averaged five miles an hour, with stretches of eddy slowing it down to three and the rifles jumping it to six and seven.

Tidouts was reached at 11:30 and West Hickory at 1:30. Headwinds were encountered from 10 a. m. on. These were very discouraging. We reached Tionesta at 3 p. m. By now everyone was really tired. We reached our goal, about five miles from Oil City at 6 p. m. After looking over numerous camping sites, twelve cans of chicken noodle soup, backed up by two loaves of bread, cocoa, jelly, peanut butter, canned peaches and crackers were soon done away with and everyone was snoring by 8 p. m. in the pup tents. Saturday morning we turned out at 5:45 and embarked at 7:20. We stopped in Oil City to buy more chow and passed through Franklin at 10 a. m. where the sand and gravel company held up operations while we passed. We expected to camp north of Emblenton but the current and our arms were holding up well so we decided to go on. After leaving Franklin, the river was very "wild" with few marks of civilization other than the railroad. We saw deer on a river island and hundreds of ducks and hawks. Erroneous reports on the mileage to Emblenton were received from fishermen who said it was all the way from two to 25 miles, but actually it was 12.

We drifted through Emblenton, paddled through Foxburg and Parker's Landing, finally made camp on a lonely flat spot some 60 feet above the river below Parker's Landing. By now everyone was broken in and a few blisters had appeared. We had an overabundance of food on the trip and all should have gained weight. We didn't get up until 7:30, breakfasted, packed up and had our Sunday school lesson before moving off at 10:30.

The hills were very rugged hereabouts, capped by huge ledges and masses of rock. Hundreds of camps are built along the river; from Irvine to Brady's Bend there are some wonderful and beautiful sights, unfolding as you round the bends. The camps dot the banks, often perched upon a side hill. We had plenty of time so played around with sails on the canoes, rigged from shelter halves. Three canoes proved beyond doubt that they were landlubbers by ending up on an island and had to be paddled instead of sailed.

We reached Brady's Bend (or East Brady) at 2 p. m. Sunday after a mile of white-capped waves that soaked all the bow paddlers as they came right over the front ends. We were very fortunate in having excellent weather and no accidents.

Everyone wanted to continue on at least to Pittsburgh, and New Orleans was mentioned, but our parents were waiting with their cars to bring a happy bunch of Explorer Scouts back home to school and work.

DOOMROCK

BY ARCHIE JOSCELYN

Chapter 4

STEVE's hand dropped away, nervous, his whole mind stunned by the discovery. That stone had been his luck, while he had it—and now he had lost it and his luck was gone!

Revitalization coursed through him like a flame. His clawing hand had dropped on something rough and hard, familiar to the feel. His fingers closed around it and Matt Tarson was just a shade slower. He rolled aside, came to his feet, the stone clutched in his fist. As Tarson rushed, Steve hit him a second blow, again to the chin. This time, it was minutes before Tarson opened his eyes.

With the agony gone from his ankles, Steve felt good. He slipped the rock back into his pocket, turned to the plaudits of the crowd.

He was bloody, disheveled, but Melody seemed not to mind.

"I knew you could do it, Steve," she told him. "You were magnificent."

On the drive home they found a lot to talk about. "This is an event, this evening," he said. "The fact that you'd go with me when I asked you—and so late in the day, too."

"I've been waiting quite a while for you to ask me," she confessed. "You mean 'I said, some what at a loss. 'I—you've seemed to like Matt'."

"He did well enough while I had to wait for you," Melody nodded. "But I'd have finished my visit and gone back East, weeks ago, if I hadn't thought that you'd come around."

Steve digested that, pleased but more startled than he cared to confess.

"You're my kind, Steve," she added. "The only one in this whole section of country who is—aside, of course, from the Waldens, who are lovely. They are old friends of both my father and mother. But you've been East to college, I understand."

"I had a couple of years of it, yes," Steve agreed.

"Just two?"

"Part of a third. I had to come back a while ago, to run the ranch. Uncle Link got hurt."

"Engineering. I don't know just why—but I always sort of had a feeling about those lines."

"Engineering? Why—" she looked at him quickly. "Steve Russell? Of course! You're Wildcat Russell!"

He grinned faintly.

"Where'd you hear that?"

"How could I hear hearing it? Everybody did—it was in all the papers. How the little town of Ramsey was endangered by the flood, and would have been swept away if the dam had broken."

"Shucks," he protested. "That was just luck."

"For the town, yes," she agreed. "But it wasn't luck that you managed to save the dam when everybody thought it was sure to go. I read the accounts—read them with a great deal of interest. Experienced engineers said that your methods were so unusual as to amount to pure genius. 'You're famous all over that part of the country, Steve.'"

Steve said uncomfortably. "I was just lucky, there."

"If you were, so was the town—and so was I," she said softly. "I was in Ramsey at the time—in bed, too sick to be moved, even with the water threatening the town. I've cause to remember Wildcat Russell, Steve."

He looked at her with quickened interest.

"I'm sure glad the dam held," he said. "I didn't know about that."

"I'm interested in engineering," she added, after a moment. "That's how my father and my uncle made their money. Pascoe, Graham and Pascoe are a well-known firm."

"So that's who you are?" Steve whistled. "Pascoe and Graham!" He knew well enough that the names represented the ultimate in prestige, either socially or in engineering circles. What she was virtually telling him was that he could be assured of a good position with Pascoe, Graham and Pascoe if he wanted it—and with such an opportunity, a man could go far. His hand touched the hard object in his pocket. Luck!

At the same time he said he had been stopped by State Police twice but only warned. The arresting officer said Brown turned left onto West Main street from South Center street with the tires on his car screeching about 8:25 p. m. Taking up the chase police followed him through the intersection of West Main and Spring streets, Spring street and West South street, West South street and First avenue with the car careening wildly and the tires protesting through every turn. Residential and Industrial Wiring Appliance Repairs

BE SURE OF TOP PERFORMANCE FROM LAMPS AND APPLIANCES

Too small wires, like too small pipes, cannot supply enough pressure at outlets. If your lights dim when the refrigerator starts, if your toaster is slow to heat, you probably need more circuits of larger size wire.

Call us for a complete check-up and estimate.

We install outlets, circuits, larger main panels. We replace outdated lighting fixtures.
